Why data science courses fails to get you a job.

- They don't teach you how to frame a data science problem.
- They don't focus on EDA and feature engineering.
- Focusing on tools instead of subject.
- They don't prepare you for real life implementation problems.
- Not teaching about data science pipelines and model deployment.