Reasons for failing in data science interviews

- Not understanding the job description or job role properly
- Not knowing much about the company and its business
- Not good at technical skills
- Not asking the essential questions
- Making silly technical mistakes
- Not being a problem solver
- Not thinking from the interviewer perspective
- Not supporting your statements with stats and facts
- Failing to convey how you will help the company.